Dear Dr. Battle:

We began our doctor-patient relationship in September 2009 for elevated blood pressure, skin rash and to promote overall wellness as I am in my 50s. I am an oil & gas engineering professional with a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering (LSU 1981) and over 30 years working for major oil companies such as ExxonMobil. My work requires overseas travel and residency most recently in Nigeria, Dubai and Qatar.

I pursued a Chemical Engineering degree in the event that my attempt to enter medical school would be unsuccessful. After two years and three unsuccessful medical school interviews, I discontinued my pursuit of the medical profession and settled into the oil & gas business. Engineering has been a good career and afforded me the opportunity to see much of the world at company expense.

The testing methodology used by Dr. Battle's practice is very interesting. It made me more curious and caused me to do some investigation into the diagnostic procedures. The results have been very good. The blood tests and overall well being that I now enjoy support the supplement regimen as prescribed.

I have been very well satisfied with the results of Dr. Battle's efforts and appreciate the care and concern that I experience as time is taken to explain the interrelationships within the body. I have realized significant improvements in what I would view as slowing the normal aging process, increased reflex response and improved sleep. Blood pressure and skin rash have improved without the use of synthetic pharmaceuticals.

The staff are knowledgeable and helpful with addressing your medical condition to make you feel comfortable and at home in the office converted from a house. Special thanks to Linda (who keeps the smile out front), Debbie, Troy and Roberto. They have worked with my overseas travel requirements to keep me healthy.

If I had been successful in my pursuit of medicine, I wish that I would have had a practice such as Dr. Battle's.

All the Best!
